

Women's spaces

During the period of transition to democracy (Metapolitefsi) the feminist movement was characterized by the proliferation of spaces where women and women's collectives could develop their ideas and actions (discussions, exhibitions etc.). Apart from the offices and branches of organizations, which were exclusively reserved to members, some of these spaces were open to the public. Women's spaces opened in Athens (Exarcheia, Kypseli, Koukaki, Pagkrati, Ampelokipi, Vyronas, Zografou, Agia Paraskevi), Piraeus, Thessaloniki, Ioannina, Drama, Chalkida, and elsewhere.

A drawing for the Women's Café, February 1983
"Delfys" Women's Archive

The Women's café was founded in 1982 by the Democratic Women's Movement [KDG].
By 1982 KDG members had founded various meeting places throughout provincial towns and neighborhoods in Athens and Thessaloniki.

Poster for a Women's Bookstore party
"Delfys" Women's Archive

Women's Bookstore poster
"Delfys" Women's Archive

The poster for the exhibition "10 years of the Women's Movement" held at the bookstore The book/ The child
"Delfys" Women's Archive